

ADAM™

INTERFACE SYSTEM

Proven Interface Technology.

Lighter and more comfortable than traditional nasal mask interfaces, the ADAM™ Interface System (Airway Delivery and Management) uses Nasal Pillows, offering patients a unique alternative for noninvasive ventilation therapy. The Nasal Pillows gently seal at the patient's nares to reduce leaks. The ADAM interface includes Velcro® fasteners that permit maximum versatility in fitting and adjustment.

In addition to the ADAM system, Puritan Bennett offers a range of interface options, including the innovative Breeze SleepGear™ Interface System shown here.

Nasal Pillows minimize leaks and give CPAP patients a comfortable alternative to traditional masks.

Nasal Pillows come in seven sizes to give your patients a wide choice in fit.

Swivel adapters relieve stress between the tubing and shell to help keep pillows in place.

Tubing routes over patient's head for greater freedom of movement.

Four lightweight, adjustable headgear options are available for sleep lab and home use.

A calibrated exhalation hole in the shell allows carbon dioxide venting.
